

TAFT RECEIVES MEXICO'S ANSWER TO THE PROTEST

PRESIDENT DIAZ WILL TAKE MATTER UP IN DIPLOMATIC MANNER LATER.

NO ARMISTICE IS ALLOWED

El Paso Waits for the Attack by the Insurgents Upon Juarez, Across the Rio Grande.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, April 20.—Mexico's reply to President Taft's note concerning the safety of Americans on the border was delivered to the President today. Its tenor is said to be very friendly.

President Taft will await the receipt of the formal note from Mexico before taking the matter up further. The President, it was said today, will look upon the reply with tolerant spirit.

He is disposed to regard it as the usual diplomatic forerunner to formal negotiations for greater preventative measures.

Refuses Armistice.
El Paso, Tex., April 20.—Francisco I. Madero refused absolutely to grant an armistice as suggested by Dr. Gomez at Washington. He sent in word today that he would take an armistice after the battle of Juarez and then only.

The situation around Juarez is unchanged, General Navarro, the federal commander, denies having received the rebel demand for a surrender.

Stone's Views.
Washington, D. C., April 20.—A positive declaration in favor of giving the President authority to prevent a repetition of the killing of American citizens by Mexican insurgents was presented in the senate today by Senator Stone of Missouri.

Senator Stone commended the President for sending troops to the border and contended for the right of the United States to protect the lives and property of American citizens.

Unofficial Answer.
(BY UNITED PRESS.)
Washington, April 20.—Unofficial advices today state the reply of President Diaz of Mexico to President Taft's note of last Saturday declare the insurgent army of Mexico is partially composed and freely aided by Americans, and blaming the Americans for the border trouble at Agua Prieta, and promises nothing.

Reference is said to have been made that a Mexican federal officer was shot from the United States custom house at Douglas, Arizona, and that rebel machine guns were taken across the border and repaired by Americans during the fighting, among other things.

The report has caused a great stir in official circles.

The state department today gave out a statement in effect that as much as the proofs were not before that do-came alive with insurgents. Madero, the rebel leader, with personal staff of thirty mounted officers, rode to the river, opposite the city, at midnight this morning and watched their horses.

The city is in a frenzy of excitement with the Diaz army awaiting the attack by the insurgents.

KILLED MEASURE TO INCREASE DRY ZONE ABOUT UNIVERSITY

Bill Prohibiting Saloons Within Five Mile Radius of Colleges At Madison Laid On Table By Assembly.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)
Madison, April 20.—The assembly today killed the bill to increase the "dry zone" about the state university from one half to five miles. Supporters of the measure made a desperate effort to save it by offering an amendment, cutting down the district the zone should extend, but all were rejected and the measure killed by a vote of 57 to 31.

A text vote came in an amendment by Assemblyman Axel Johnson to compromise on creating a one mile zone, instead of the half mile zone. This was rejected by a vote of 67 to 31.

The James county option bill which was placed on the senate calendar for indefinite postponement took form of a substitute of similar purport introduced by Senator Blinn today, which will come before that body Saturday.

By the end of this week, the industrial insurance bill will likely have become a law, it is declared here today. The assembly is ready to adopt it in the form in which it left the hands of the joint committee, was demonstrated last night when it was ordered to engrossment with only one amendment.

SUFFRAGE BILL MET ITS DEATH BLOW

Almost Certain to Be Turned Down When It Goes to the Assembly.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)
Madison, April 20.—Following the report that the James bill, providing state wide suffrage, had been "throttled" by the assembly committee on election, opponents for votes for women expressed the opinion that the bill will not be favorably acted upon in the assembly.

THE BANK ELECTED ITS NEW OFFICERS

Fond du Lac Men Have Organized a Hundred Thousand Dollar Corporation.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)
Fond du Lac, April 20.—The newly organized Citizens State bank, with a capital of $100,000, fully subscribed, last night elected its first officers. E. A. Curtis of Madison was elected president. The bank will open for business in temporary quarters on May 15.

SELLING BONDS FOR RACINE ST. BRIDGE

Subscribers Paying for Amounts They Desired and Issue Is Being Rapidly Taken.

Subscribers for the $17,000 worth of bonds issued by the city of Janesville for the construction of the proposed bridge over the river at Racine street are calling at the office of City Treasurer James A. Fatherson daily, securing the number of bonds for which they have spoken. By next Monday, it is expected, the entire issue will be sold and the money placed at the city's disposal to pay for the bridge when completed.

The bonds for the Fourth avenue bridge, which have been held invalid, are not being sold although the full amount and more was subscribed for before the flaw was discovered in their legality.

According to the city treasurer, there has been no difficulty in selling the bonds, people seeming to desire them. They are considered a gilt-edged security, as they pay four and a half per cent on the investment and it is an absolutely safe means of investing money.

When the two issues were first put out, there were numerous subscribers for both and the amount subscribed above the amount of the issues was something like ten thousand dollars. Besides local investors out of town bond firms have desired to purchase the bonds, but it has been considered best to sell only to local people. Not more than $3,000 worth can be secured by any one person.

Canada's National Art Gallery.

Ottawa, Ont., April 20.—Paints have attracted the interest of art connoisseurs throughout the dominion during the last few years in so great a measure as the opening today of the National Art Gallery, of Canada. In this city. In view of the national importance of the event His Excellency Earl Grey had been requested to preside over the opening ceremonies, which have attracted hundreds of distinguished visitors, artists and art lovers to this city. The collection is large and contains representative works of nearly all the noted painters of the Dominion.

UNCLE SAM TO HOLD BIG RUMMAGE SALE

Unclaimed Personal Property of Americans Who Died Abroad Has Been Ordered Sold at Auction.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)
Washington, April 20.—Secretary of the Treasury, McVey has just ordered what will probably be the most unusual auction sale ever held in the United States. The general public will be invited to bid on a number of valuable, but unclaimed property of Americans who died abroad alone and so far as known, friendless.

The property comes from every quarter of the globe, whence U. S. Consuls forward it to the State Department. The government has been unable to find the heirs, and so, the unclaimed personal estates, some of them worth thousands of dollars, have for several years lain in a huge vault in the office of the Auditor of the State and other Departments.

Almost every variety of small article is represented in the heterogeneous lot which is to be auctioned off. There are penicillines with broken blades, and cavalry sabres. There are cheap brass rings, and there are rings set with diamonds and rubies, bracelets studded with gems, and diamond solitaire earrings. One little package contains a watch case which is made of iron. Another contains two watches with solid gold cases, and works of the finest make. There are also many packages of money from every known country. One of the packages to be sold contains five $100 government bonds. Another contains 9 Confederate ten dollar bills, and a $1000 bond issued by the government of "Jeff" Davis. Any number of packages contain property deeds and negotiable, interest bearing notes, long overdue, but which the government in its self constituted capacity of custodian, has had no power to collect. All these estates will go package by package to the highest bidder, and those who have no acquaintance about buying dead men's things may pick up some rare bargains.

The government has long hesitated to sell its rather gruesome collection but has been finally forced to do so, because, according to a Treasury official, "the stuff is piling up too fast, and we need the room."

The proceeds of the strange sale will be deposited in the Treasury to await claimants which are never expected to appear.

STOCK MARKET SHOWS SOME IRREGULARITY

(BY UNITED PRESS.)
New York, April 20.—The stock market showed a good deal of irregularity today. Missouri Pacific was three eighths higher, but lost its gain and showed a fractional decline. A firm tone developed at the end of fifteen minutes.

LOWER HOUSE HAS LABOR DELEGATION

Fifteen Members, It Is Said, Were Elected to Office Through Efforts of Labor Federation.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)
Washington, April 20.—The American Federation of Labor now boasts, as the labor representation of Congress, 15 members in the House of Representatives and several friends in the United States Senate. The presence of this labor delegation in Congress, the Federation declares, is the result of 5 years of active campaigning in national elections.

In 1906 the labor representation committee of the American Federation of Labor decided aggressively to take the field against the reelection of certain members of Congress who had been conspicuous in their antagonism toward all labor bills introduced in Congress. Congressman Littlefield, second district of Maine, courted a battle in the political campaign of four years ago, with the labor element.

President Gompers with three organizers and a similar number of international officers, entered Littlefield's district, and according to Gompers, "they made a memorable struggle to impress upon the citizens of that district the desirability of permitting the intelligent congressmen to remain at home." Littlefield, however, came back to Congress, though his majority was greatly reduced.

In various parts of the country similar battles have been fought by trade unionists who have opposed the reelection of anti-labor men in Congress, with the result that in 1906 the A. F. of L. entered the field under the labor ticket. The first campaign resulted in the election of six congressmen with active membership in the trade unions. They were, Wilson of Pa.; Nichols of Pa.; Sherwood of Ohio; Hughes of N. J.; McDermott of Ill. and Carey of Wisconsin.

In the election of 1908 the above were re-elected and in addition the following labor unionists: Anderson of Ohio; Murphy of Missouri; Martin of Ohio; and Jamieson of Iowa.

The Congressional elections of 1910 increased the labor delegation by 50 per cent, five members of Congress actively affiliated with trade unions being elected.

The personnel of the Congressional labor delegation is as follows: Anderson, now in office and whose presence there, it is said, is due to the activity of the American Federation of Labor in national campaigns:

Wilson, W. B., coal miner, Blossburg, Pa., Dem.
Lee, E. E., blacksmith, Pottsville, Pa., Dem.

ESTABLISHED LIFE-SAVING SERVICE FORTY YEARS AGO

Service Which Had Small Beginning Now Extends Along All Lake Coasts and Seaboard.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, D. C., April 20.—Today marked the fortieth anniversary of the establishment of the United States life-saving service. An act of April 20, 1871, authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to establish stations on the coasts of Long Island and New Jersey and to employ crews of trained surfmen at a compensation not to exceed $10,000 a month.

Subsequent legislation has extended the service to all the ocean and lake coasts of the country. At the close of the last fiscal year the life-saving establishment embraced 281 stations, 261 being on the Atlantic coast, 60 on the lakes, 19 on the Pacific coast, and 1 at the falls of the Ohio, Louisville.

Since 1871 the life-savers have given aid in nearly 22,000 ship disasters in which 147,000 persons were involved and property valued at $235,000,000 saved. The cost of the maintenance of the service is about $25,000,000 a year.

The general superintendent of the service is Samuel I. Kimball, who has held this position ever since it was created forty years ago, and in his annual report there has appeared many interesting facts and figures from the Government Printing Office.

ENDORSE BARLASS BY A VOTE TODAY

COUNTY BOARD SUSTAINS THE ACTION OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF POOR FARM.

ADD TO THE SCHOOL FUND

Two Thousand Dollars More Made Available for the Teachers' Training School.

That the charges of mismanagement of the county poor farm was brought about without any facts to substantiate the charges made, was the verdict of the report of the trustees of the county farm made to the county board of supervisors this afternoon and adopted by them as the basis of the whole matter. The trustees had made an exhaustive investigation of the conditions and in their report stated some pretty plain facts as to the cause of the publication of the various exaggerated reports which were printed relative to the matter. The report adopted was as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Rock County:

Gentlemen: There having been public complaints made of cruelty to inmates and general mismanagement of the county farm published broadcast and editorial comments in the Jamesville press casting unjust reflections upon the character and acts of both Mr. and Mrs. Barlass in their management of the county farm, it seemed wise and just to all parties concerned that the trustees should investigate the charges and report their findings to the county board. We therefore beg leave to report that we have examined the testimony of the complainants and have investigated the facts leading up to the charges and find that there has been trouble brewing for some time and that it culminated in a personal encounter between one of the older inmates of the Almshouse and the attendant in charge, resulting in the old man being severely lacerated and as some have stated, he only got his just deserts. We find that the attendant was the first to strike the inmate, that in the altercation he lost his head, for which we cannot excuse him (no attendant should under any circumstances strike an inmate except in self defense). We find, however, that the attendant had had much provocation at diverse times, but that was no excuse for using physical force, and we recommend that he be censured and warned that a repetition of the offense will result in his dismissal.

As regards the published interviews we find that the reporter's report appears to have been exaggerated largely, and that the inmate who had been dismissed for cause and who has sought in every way to make the life of Mr. and Mrs. Barlass unpleasant at the farm, and there appears to have been a combined effort to cause dissension among the members of the Almshouse.

We find that the charges that the inmates of the Almshouse are poorly fed and in too limited amount is utterly untrue. If anyone has doubts go and see for yourself. We find that Mr. and Mrs. Barlass are diligent and faithful in the discharge of their duties and in a kindly but earnest way trying to enforce just rules and regulations such as in their judgment are necessary in the conduct of the institution over which they preside, and we find no cause for censure either by the board of trustees or otherwise.

We recommend a vote of confidence in the management and a pledge to sustain them in all ways that are right and just. We condemn the efforts of sensation seeking newspapers who have sought to enlarge upon the trouble without just cause. We invite just criticism from any source but take exceptions to unjust and unwarranted attacks on the character and efficiency of the present management.

We object to the practice of committing vagrants or intoxicated men to the county farm. This is supposed to be the home for decent, dependent poor and they should not be compelled to associate and affiliate with those who, if they had their just deserts, would be committed to the county jail.

And finally, we beg to report to this county board that the trustees have full confidence in the present management. We feel that he should have full control over the farm, in its various departments and we shall do all in our power to uphold him so long as he is in the right. In our judgment Mr. and Mrs. Barlass are entitled to the full confidence and support of this board of supervisors and we ask you to cordially sustain them for the welfare of the inmates and the good name of the Rock county home for the dependent poor.

Respectfully submitted,
C. E. LANGWORTHY,
ROBERT MOORE,
P. F. LIVERMORE.

On motion of Supervisor Moore the sum of two thousand dollars was added to the amount already appropriated for the county training school for teachers which will be located in the Jefferson school in this city, bringing the total the county has appropriated as four thousand dollars, and with the one thousand dollars from Jonesville for fitting the rooms up, five thousand in all that will be available. On motion of Supervisor McElroy the salary of the deputy registrar of deeds was raised from fifty to sixty dollars a month. Much time was taken in discussing the re-furnishing of the county clerk's office and other matters of similar importance.

The county board finished the work of the present session and adjourned at four o'clock this afternoon.

Morning Session.
Reports of several committees and minor matters took up most of the time at the morning session which convened at about 10:45. Thirty-seven of the supervisors were in their seats.

TOBACCO MARKET CONTINUES DULL

LITTLE MOVEMENT OF ANY OF THE GOODS AND WORK AT THE WAREHOUSES IS BEING RUSHED.

GENERAL QUIET IS NOTED

Which is Not Confined To Janesville But Extends Throughout the State—Weather Conditions Good For Plants.

Dullness prevails in the tobacco market perhaps to a greater extent than at any other time this season. The main reason for this is that many of the houses here have finished their packings of the 1910 crop and have closed down with only the usual summer work ahead of them. However, this quietness appears to be general throughout the state and is not confined to any one section. At other centers where large amounts of leaf are handled the same quietness is noted a general slackness which is unusual at this time.

Neither is this apathy confined to the tobacco trade, but other manufacturers and merchants find that conditions for the moment are not such that they ought to be. The railroads which may be taken as a measure of the section's business are suffering from the lack of traffic and complaints that there is nothing doing.

It is possible that the fall in the tobacco market is but the quiet which precedes the spring buying season. Most of the '09 crop is being moved out of the dealers' hands and is being disposed of in a manner which forecasts a good demand for the 1910 crop. Not a little of the latter has already been shipped from here and it is thought that it will find a ready market.

All but five houses at this point have finished their season's packings. Those that are packing are S. S. Baines, the American Tobacco Company, St. L. Carr, J. H. Hunkler and Schwartz and G. H. Runkler. The two latter will finish within a short time and Runkler has had only a small force working during the entire season. The other firms, however, are putting up large amounts of the crop and will work for a number of weeks.

The receipts of the last week have been very light and amount practically to a car of Pennsylvania grade received by P. S. Baines. The last of the tobacco in this section has been received with the exception of a few crops yet to be delivered to the American.

The much needed rains of this past week have been welcomed by the farmers and the accompanying warmth will do much for the tobacco seed which has been sown. Some growers have not made their beds as yet, but this work should be done with as much dispatch as possible at present, as it is generally recognized by growers and dealers that the earlier plants can be procured the better chances there are for a good crop.

It is the suggestion of many authorities that a shelter be provided for the plant beds especially in the early stages of the plants' growth. It is recommended by some that light canvas be used as this will not only serve as a protection but will increase the warmth of the beds and augment growth. Others, however, suggest that merely a protection in the shape of a whitewash be provided without any covering over the bed. This will insure the young plant to the changing conditions which are prevalent in this section and make a more hardy plant that will stand the transplanting and possess vitality to withstand early drought.

Conditions at present point to a good season for the grower and although spring has been late in arriving, this may be looked upon as an asset, as it will insure continued good weather. Added to the weather conditions is the general demand of the trade which promise to be all that can be desired on the part of the farmer.

TOWN OF FULTON

RESIDENT IS DEAD

William C. Nagle Passed Away Wednesday Afternoon.—News Notes From Edgerton.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, April 20.—William C. Nagle, who died Wednesday morning at 2:30 o'clock at the home of his wife in the town of Fulton, was born June 1870, on the same premises. He spent all his years on the farm and since the death of the late Reuben Nagle, which occurred July 25, 1896, he was not only actively engaged in carrying on the homestead farm, but also acquired additional land which adjoins the homestead farm. The immediate cause of his death was tuberculosis, with which he had been afflicted for the past two years, the last year being the most strenuous one, the disease failing to yield to medical treatment. He was a kind neighbor and friend, always ready to extend a helping hand to the poor and afflicted, and such he was ever in the highest esteem by his fellowmen. In the prime of life his death caused a gleam of sorrow upon the family, especially the aged mother, who together with one daughter, Marie, survive.

The funeral service will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the M. E. church, conducted by Rev. P. C. Richardson of Lake Geneva. Interment will be in the family lot in Forest cemetery.

DRAINAGE MATTER IS LEFT UNSETTLED YET

Basin Creek District Will Remain in Same State As It is at Present—Jury List.

Attorneys for both sides in the matter of the Basin Creek drainage district controversy, brought before Judge Griffin at the opening of the special jury term of the circuit court yesterday afternoon, have agreed to consider the papers in the matter closed and to stop any further circulating of petitions. The case was adjourned until June 19.

The residents of the district in question seem to be in a state of indecision and those who favor the project and those who are opposed find it a difficult matter to keep their supporters lined up long enough to count on them indefinitely. In order to put the matter squarely before the court it is necessary to have it certain who the signers of the petition for permission to begin work on the project are. It is said that some of the men in the district are so uncertain as to what they want, that they have switched from the petition to the opposition as many as four different times. This uncertainty was the cause for the agreement between the attorneys to the effect that no more petitions would be circulated.

Owing to the fact that a majority of the jury for this term of the court were excused on one protest and another at yesterday's opening of the special term, a special venire was issued by the clerk. These will return for work at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Meanwhile the court is continuing on the first cases on the calendar with what was left of the much-disputed panel. Following is the special venire:

A surplus upon it was in favor of the plaintiffs which had been before the trial. The case was started yesterday and involved an old debt. The case was settled out of court this morning, the defendant paying $250 to the plaintiff, and the case was taken out of court.

PAY IN ADVANCE

Is an Economical Idea—It Saves Money and gives the Public Cheaper Telephone Service

The Wisconsin Telephone Company now has over 92,000 subscribers in Wisconsin. The collection of exchange telephone bills twelve times a year, therefore, means a total of more than 1,000,000 bills per annum. This statement illustrates, as has often been asserted in these talks, that the telephone business is, in every department, one of multitudes details.

"Why do you demand payment in advance for a telephone?" asks a subscriber, and occasionally one "kicks" and says, "I don't have to pay for anything else in business."

The answer is easy and it is well to make it publicly. We collect in advance for the sake of economy. If collections were not made in advance the increased ratio of bad accounts and losses would require an increase of rates and good customers would have to carry the bad ones.

It would be quite impossible, also, to keep accurately posted as to the financial responsibility of so many customers, without large and needless expense.

It is, therefore, for the benefit of all, and for the benefit of the service, that payment in advance is required.

To our friend who raises the question there is also another answer. He pays in advance for his street car ride. He pays his rent in advance. He pays his railroad fare in advance. Also postage and pay rent. In fact, if he pays his bills, he pays most of them in advance. He pays for his coal long before it is burned, and for his clothes months before they are worn out.

There is nothing unusual or unreasonable, therefore, in the collection of telephone bills at the beginning of the month, and, in the long run, it saves money, both for the company and the public, which means cheaper and better telephone service.—Telephone Talk No. 822.

The Skavlem Piano Club plan saves you nearly a Hundred Dollars

These club pianos are worth $375 The Skavlem club price is $277.50

These instruments have been sold right here in Janesville and surrounding counties for years and years at $375. Hundreds are being sold now, every month all over the United States at $375. And they are worth $375. Measured by the standard of any other piano sold in the country for $375, they are worth $375. They are worth it on our floors, or on the floors of any piano dealer in the country.

The Skavlem club price is $277.50. The price includes everything. There are no extras of any kind. Nothing to be added for drayage, scarf, stool, interest, or for the life insurance feature—absolutely no extras. Two hundred and seventy-seven dollars and fifty cents is the price, and the price includes everything—even to 218 weeks' time in which to pay the $277.50.

The club terms are easy $5 when you join, then $1.25 a week

These 200 pianos, which were bought expressly for this big club, will be sold, $5.00 cash, then $1.25 a week. The $5.00 payment made when you join the club is credited to your account, leaving $272.50 to be paid.

$5 Cash 1.25 Week

The piano is delivered immediately. You do not have to wait until the club is filled. You get your piano when you join. The remainder ($272.50) is payable every week. Club members do not have to pay more than $1.25 a week. This gives them 218 weeks in which to pay for the piano, and still get it at the club price of $277.50, as there are not extras to be paid for.

The guarantee we give in writing on the Skavlem club piano is as strong as words can make it.

Almost any piano can muster up a guarantee of some sort. Some pretty poor pianos sometimes are backed by fairly good guarantees, while on the other hand some mighty good pianos are handicapped by poor guarantees. But almost without exception, all guarantees are vague and misleading. There are a whole lot of "ifs" and "ands" in them.

SKAVLEM CLUB PIANO TEN YEAR GUARANTEE

We guarantee Skavlem Club Piano (No. ....) to be free from defective material or workmanship for the period of ten years from date. Should same arise within that time, we agree to repair it or replace it if necessary with a new instrument without charge, upon its return to us.
(Signed) L. N. SKAVLEM.

The thing to do when buying a piano is, first to look to the reliability of the house with which you are dealing and then to look at the reputation of the piano itself. With these SKAVLEM club pianos, we ourselves guarantee them. We are the sponsors for them.

We have gotten up the strongest guarantee we know how to make. If the English language can make one stronger, we are willing to sign it. We have eliminated every "if" and every "doubt." The language of the guarantee is the spirit of it, which is to give each and every person who joins the SKAVLEM Piano Club positive and absolute protection in his investment. We print herewith a copy of the guarantee which is handed to each and every club member in writing, over the signature of L. N. Skavlem the moment they join the club.

For the convenience of people who cannot come in during the day the store will be open every evening until ten o'clock.

L. N. SKAVLEM

SOLE AGENT FOR THE BALDWIN, HAMILTON, ELLINGTON, HOWARD AND VALLEY GEM PIANOS AND PLAYER PIANOS.

Registered in accordance with Copyright Act of March 4, 1909, by Martin McCarrick and L. N. Skavlem. Unauthorized use in whole or part, or colorable summaries thereof forbidden.

Your money back is the letter and spirit of the Skavlem piano club

We say, in speaking of and advertising this big Skavlem piano club: "If the piano is not satisfactory after 30 days' use we will give you your money back."

Husband—"I bought you a Skavlem Club Piano today."
Wife—"Oh! You're a dear."

This is not a "catch-penny" scheme. This is not done as an inducement to get you to join the club, then not live up to it. We mean to give you your money back if you ask for it. We have no other intention—never have had—nor never will have.

If you are dissatisfied with the Skavlem club piano after 30 days' use, all you have to do is to say so, and we will send and get the piano and return your money.

We will not even ask you the "whys" and "wherefores"—we simply will give you your money back.

We know this piano we are selling to this club. We know it like we know our A. B. C's, and in order that you and the public should know it, we hit upon this old, time-honored proposition of "Your Money Back"—though as far as we know this is the first time it has ever been applied to selling pianos.

But we go still further Club members get a full year's trial

It is our belief that a person cannot get a satisfactory trial of any piano, either good or bad, in 30 days. If, however, a thirty days' trial dissatisfies a club member, we will give him his money back. On the other hand, we have arranged a trial for each and every club piano that will tell the tale—that will show whether or not this club piano is worthy of a permanent place in your home.

Privilege of Exchange of the Skavlem Club Piano

Privilege is given the purchaser to exchange SKAVLEM CLUB PIANO (No. ....) within One Year from date. The exchange, if made, shall be made for any new piano sold by us of equal or greater value at the time exchange is made, all payments made on the piano herein mentioned being placed to the credit of the price of instrument for which it is exchanged.
(Signed) L. N. SKAVLEM.

Printed right across the face of the contract is an agreement that gives to each and every club member the privilege of exchanging his club piano, at any time within one (1) year, without one penny's loss.

It's just like this:
You join the club—you then, as a club member, become entitled to all its advantages and privileges. One of those privileges is A year's trial of the piano. In other words—the club member has one full year's time to fully satisfy himself as to the character of the piano he is getting.
Suppose that year's trial is not satisfactory—what then?

We Will Exchange the Piano

The club member can come to our store and make another selection. He can select a piano of equal grade or a better grade. Whatever money he has paid, whether it is $40, $50, $80, $100, or whatever the amount, will be credited to the price of his new piano, and we will take the original club piano back without the loss of a single cent to him.

The Crowning Idea of the Club-- the life insurance feature

"If the signer of this contract should die during the life thereof, and all weekly rentals have been paid when due, the remaining installments will be cancelled forthwith, and a receipt in full for the piano turned over to the family of the deceased."

This is a simple statement—without any frills—that covers the whole story and it is made in writing, right in the face of the contract. We want this club to be co-operative and helpful to each and every member in it.

Who Should Join the Club

- 1st—Young married folks should join the club.
- 2nd—Young couples about to be married should join the club.
- 3rd—Young persons who are anxious to learn to play the piano, but who, through force of circumstances, will have to buy and pay for their own instruments.
- 4th—Music teachers who are just starting their professional career should join.
- 5th—Societies, club, lodges and Sunday schools that have small stated incomes should take advantage of the easy conditions of the club.

We want the saving to each and every member to be the greatest possible. We want every protection that we can think of to go to all its members. In short we want this big deal, to be a standing advertisement for us as long as we are in business, and this life insurance idea is its crowning feature.

If the head of the family dies—if the bread winner dies—if the source of income is stopped by death—the piano is not lost to the family. The family does not have to work and worry to meet the remaining payments. They are immediately canceled—and a clear "receipt in full" is given to the family of the deceased. Isn't this a comforting and reassuring idea?

NO CHANGE MADE IN COUNCIL OF MONROE

No New Faces Found in New Monroe City Council—Jacobson Lodged in Monroe Jail and Will Probably Plead Guilty.

Monroe, April 20.—No change in membership in the city council or city officers has been made, all of the present employees being retained. Edward Ruegger was elected president of the council after three ballots when the council met for organization and appointment of officers. William Dunwiddie, only applicant for city clerk, was re-appointed and J. W. A. Nance, renegade street commissioner, although John Sullivan, and H. L. Hall were applicants for the place. William Dunwiddie, who was elected to the position of city clerk, is re-elected city veterinarian and Charles T. Moxley, city weight master.

Aldermen Clark, Sweeney and Stauffer are members of the board of health and various committees have been appointed on streets and sidewalks, public property, claims, license, judiciary, finance, water and lights, special paving for the square and a police committee.

May Picnic Guilty.
Harry C. Jacobson, who broke jail here in 1904, was brought here from Auburn prison by John W. Gardner and N. W. McCrady, of broadhead, and is now lodged in the county jail. It is believed the former will petition Judge Grimm to hear his plea of guilty and take sentence, in case he does not so petition, he will be obliged to remain in jail until October for the next term of court. Jacobson was nabbed by Gardner as he left Auburn prison, New York, after serving sentence there for forgery. He attempted to escape on ship, but was served with a requisition by the Auburn chief of police. Jacobson is one of a trio, all named Harry, who broke jail here. Harry Hunsen, a pickpocket, sawed out a very famous, the fur thief, cut his way through the wall.

ANOTHER PIONEER CALLED BY DEATH

Matthew Tierney, Long a Resident of Town of Porter, Passed Away at His Home This Morning.

Fellow's Station, April 20.—Matthew Tierney, for nearly fifty years a resident of the town of Porter, passed away at four-thirty this morning. He had been a patient sufferer for a long time past and his death was due to asthma.

Mr. Tierney was of Irish descent and came from the Emerald Isle to this country in 1853. The same year he came west and settled in the town of Porter, which has been his home since that time. He was endowed with those qualities which made him an esteemed neighbor and friend and all who knew him will regret his departure. He was sixty-three years old.

He leaves a wife and six children: Joseph and Elizabeth, who live on the homestead; Anne and Agnes of Janesville; William of Oregon; and the youngest daughter who is attending high school in Evansville. The funeral announcement will be made later, owing to the son who is in Oregon.

MRS. NELL MCCARTHY WAS HOSTESS AT SURPRISE PARTY

Porter, April 19.—Last Monday evening occurred a pleasant surprise at the country home of Mrs. Mary McCarthy. Her daughter, Miss Nell, was the honored one on the occasion of her birthday. Miss Nell, spent the early part of the evening with neighbors and upon her return home was astonished to find seventy-five of her friends and relatives assembled at her home. The time was spent in dancing and social chat. At midnight, dainty refreshments were served which were enjoyed by all present. After supper James McElroy, in behalf of those present, presented Miss Nell with a beautiful gold watch, jewel case and watch pin.

Local Items.
Lester Persson delivered tobacco to Edgerton on Tuesday.
D. A. McCarthy is spending a few days in Janesville attending the meetings of the county board.
Mr. and Mrs. Walt Wright, Jr., of Janesville, spent Tuesday afternoon at the home of C. W. McCarthy.
Margaret Carlo took her first music lesson on Tuesday from Miss MacNichols.

Mr. and Mrs. Copley of Edgerton were pleasant callers at the home of Charles White on Monday afternoon. James McCarthy and Miss Marie McCarthy spent Sunday afternoon in Edgerton.

Miss Maria Knight spent Wednesday and Thursday in Milwaukee.

Miss Cora Young is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Albert Christman.

Best Spence attended a party at Frank Attey's on Tuesday night.

CHURCH WEDDING AT EVANSVILLE TODAY

C. E. Murphy of Evansville and Miss Gertrude Norton of Brooklyn Married At St. Paul's Church This Morning.

Arrival to the City.
Evansville, April 20.—The marriage of Miss Gertrude Norton of Brooklyn and Charles Edward Murphy of this city took place at St. Paul's church at eight thirty o'clock this morning. Rev. J. H. Fitzgerald pronounced the ceremony. The edifice was decorated for the occasion with palms, potted plants and cut flowers. A sister, Miss Loretta Norton, attended the bride, and the groom was accompanied by his brother, Frank Murphy. The bride was attired in a pretty gown of pale blue silk with lace trimmings.

The happy couple departed immediately after the wedding on a short honeymoon trip. They will commence housekeeping in one of the Fisher flats on Madison street and will be at home to their friends after May 1st.

Captain G. Hubbard.
The remains of Captain G. Hubbard will be held at last Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of one thirty o'clock and in the Congregational church at half past two, Rev. D. Q. Grubb officiating. The services will be conducted under the auspices of the Knight Templars.

Humane Society Meeting.
The Evansville Humane Society held a special meeting last evening to complete arrangements for an entertainment which they are to give Friday evening of this week in the library hall at seven thirty o'clock. W. J. McKay, president of the Madison society, will give an address which will be followed by a program composed of music and readings. Refreshments will be served. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

K. P. Convention.
The members of the K. P. lodge will go to Beloit, May 19th, to take part in the annual district contest of third rank teams of the K. of P. lodges of Southern Wisconsin. Mrs. J. H. Johnson, formerly of this city, but now of Beloit, has invited the Pythian Sisters to partake of a picnic supper at her home on the same date, and the invitation was accepted. The ladies will leave on the 2:25 train.

Local News.
Allen Baker and his son, John Baker, and R. D. Hartley went to Chicago yesterday on business. Mr. Baker has exchanged his Madison touring car for a 1911 model of the same make, and the gentlemen had expected to make the home trip in the auto but in all probability will not do so, owing to the heavy fall of rain.

The Chi Sigma Iota club will give a dancing party in Magee's opera house Thursday evening of this week. The hall will be decorated in the club colors purple and white, and the Thomas orchestra of Madison, will furnish the music.

During the absence of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Colton, their home will be occupied by George Butterfield and family.

At the regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters held last evening, three new members were initiated. They were Mrs. C. O. Brunsell, Bird Shreve and Zula Miller. Miss Anna Hilday became a member at the previous meeting held two weeks ago.

Harry Lee was taken to Chicago yesterday and on Thursday will undergo an operation for an abscess of the brain. He was accompanied by his cousin, Dr. Wade Donahue of Lancaster, and Dr. S. D. Donahue of Broadhead. Mrs. Lee will leave for Chicago today.

Mrs. Emerson has moved into her former residence on S. Main street.

Prof. F. J. Lowth spent Wednesday afternoon in Janesville.

Over Thirty Thousand Dollars Will Be Spent in County This Summer For Good Roads.

That Rock county will spend in the aggregate, $32,000 for the improvement of her roads during the coming year is shown by the petitions from the various towns to the county board for aid in the work, submitted at yesterday's meeting of that body. A total of eighteen towns have signed their intentions of pushing the road road proposition this summer and have put in their bids for aid from the county in the work.

The system which is practiced in this county in regard to county aid calls for a petition from the town stating the amount that they have raised for the work, which amount will be duplicated from the common tax fund of the county. The eighteen towns that have petitioned show a total of $16,000 which means that $32,000 will be spent in the county for this purpose. The amounts raised by the several towns vary from the minimum of $625 by the town of Janesville to $1,000 offered by the towns of Beloit, Avon, Bradford, Turle, Johnson, Spring Valley, Plymouth, Clinton, and Magnolia.

That this speaks well for Rock county as a whole is needless to say. From all that can be learned it is not the intention of any of the town boards to spare any pains or money to get the best kind of roads and highways possible. Several cases are known where there will be no road money used in that case the cost will be much higher. It is estimated that the average cost per mile throughout the county will come to about $800.

Following is a list of the towns asking for aid from the county and the amounts which they have raised for the good work:

Janesville ..... $1,000.00
Beloit ..... 625.00
Milton ..... 850.00
Union ..... 750.00
Pulaski ..... 800.00

EDGERTON COUNCIL MET TUESDAY NIGHT

Newly Elected City Fathers of Tobacco Held First Meeting—Other News of Interest.

Edgerton, April 19.—The newly elected common council met for the first time last night in the council chambers for organization and appointment of officers. In some of the appointive offices there was absolute ly no competitor and the work was done through with hastily and satisfactory. Following in the order of business transacted:

Street Commissioner—Albert Busch.
Health Officer—Dr. Harrison.
City Engineer—W. F. Mahbitt.
Supt. Waterworks—James Reynolds.
Asst. Engineer—John Nagle.
City Clerk—H. H. Knapp.

The Wisconsin Telegram Reporter was named as the official city paper. Almon August Dallman was elected president of the council.

The mayor appointed Andrew McIntosh to fill vacancy in fire and police commission and William Morrison for term of five years.

William Nagle.
The sad news has just reached the city of the death of William Nagle, which occurred at 3:00 o'clock this morning. He is the only son of the late Ruebin Nagle and since the father's death has conducted the home farm just southwest of Edgerton. He was some forty years of age and for the past year was confined closely to the home, suffering with consumption. His death will be keenly felt by his aged mother and sister, the only survivors in the family.

Brief Items.
H. C. Schmeling left yesterday afternoon for Seymour, in the northern part of the state, where he will devote his time for the next four weeks looking after his farm interests which he owns there.

The frame building on Henry street has been moved away to its new location in the east part of the city to make room for the new brick structure which P. M. Erickson will erect and occupy for his hardware store.

J. A. Thompson who owns livestock in Edgerton, Jefferson and Lake Mills, was at Jefferson Tuesday attending the cattle fair and while there purchased two valuable horses to add to his stock.

Will Patton of the leaf tobacco firm of W. T. Pomeroy & Co. has gone to Chicago for a few days on business.

EARLY PIONEER OF COUNTY PASSED AWAY

William H. Weaver, Aged 83, a Resident of Rock County Since 1854, Died at His Home at Milton.

Special to the Gazette.
Milton, April 20.—William H. Weaver died yesterday afternoon, falling to recover to any extent from his recent stroke of paralysis.

The deceased was one of the old settlers of Rock county, coming here in 1854 from New York, his native state, and has been a resident of this village for thirty-four years. He was eighty-three years of age and leaves an aged wife.

Mr. Weaver was a carpenter by trade and worked on many of the buildings erected in this and adjoining townships. His nephew, John D. Weaver of St. Paul, Minn., arrived yesterday and was with his uncle in his last hours.

The funeral services will be held at the house on Friday afternoon at two o'clock and the services at the cemetery will be conducted by Du Lac Lodge 1, O. O. F., of which the deceased has been a member for many years.

Small Blaze.
The fire department was called out at 10 o'clock a. m. yesterday by a gasoline stove fire in the kitchen of J. L. Hinman's house. Little damage resulted.

Miss Lucy Walker has been at Menasha and Fond du Lac this week.

TWO RESIDENTS OF UTTER'S CORNERS WERE LATELY CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Mabel Paynter Passed Away Saturday and Death Has Claimed Eliza Hadley.

Special to the Gazette.

Utter's Corners, April 19.—Mrs. Mabel Paynter died Saturday evening, April 15, after several months of severe illness. She had been in the hospital in Milwaukee twice in the past few years and had an operation performed on her throat, but all that medical aid or the best of care could do was of little avail and she was obliged to leave her loved ones.

Mabel Paynter was born July 20, 1876, in the town of Lima, Rock county, and died in the same town, April 15, aged 34 years, 9 months, and 25 days. On March 9, 1897 she was united in marriage to Myron Paynter, who, with three small children survive her. Her aged father, Zora Paynter, one sister, Mrs. E. Graham, and one brother, Ernest, all of Whitewater, also survive.

The funeral was held at the home Friday at one o'clock, conducted by Rev. Harward, who was pastor of the Congregational church in Whitewater at the time she joined that church, several years ago. The remains were taken to Whitewater and laid to rest in the Hillside cemetery. She also leaves to mourn her untimely death a host of friends who knew her all her life, who showed their respect to the departed by covering her casket with beautiful flowers.

Eliza Hadley.
Eliza Hadley died at her home here Tuesday morning after a week's sickness with the measles. He had been very sick for a week but it was thought by his family that he had passed the critical point and was on the mend, as he was up and about the house Monday, but he passed away early Tuesday morning very suddenly. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Fred Truman of Lima Center, and Ruth, who is at home, and one son, Lee, also at home.

The funeral will be held at the Utter's Corners church Sunday afternoon and the remains will be interred in the family lot in the Utter's Corners cemetery.

Personal.
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Roe and daughter went to Janesville on the morning train Sunday and spent the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rogers, returning on the evening train.

Sunday school was re-organized at the church here last Sunday morning and the following officers were elected: Mrs. Frank Walbrant, superintendent; Miss Nettie Furness, assistant; Miss Baker, secretary; Mrs. Fern Teetsworth, treasurer; Miss Florence Hull, organist. The teachers will be chosen next Sunday.

Henry Woodstock of Madison came up here Tuesday to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Myron Paynter. He also made a brief call on his brother, Fred, while here.

Likewise on this you will agree—that the paper that is most generally read, that carries the most news and reading matter into the most homes in your field and that gives you the greatest amount of circulation for the least money is the best medium for the distribution of your "store news."

We shall also agree that it is not wise to take our own personal preferences and prejudices as the measure to size up the preference and prejudices of our customers.

The BRONZE BELL

BY LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE
AUTHOR OF "THE BRASS BOWL" ETC.
ILLUSTRATIONS BY MAX WALTERS

Without an instant's delay a cry of ratification rang to the roof. "You, O mother! him we will serve and obey, to him bow down and be humble."

The voice addressed itself directly to the kneeling man. He stiffened and roused.

"Thou hast heard of the honor we confer upon thee—I Medhyama, thy mother, and these my children, thy brothers. Ye shall lead and rule in Bharuta. Are ye ready?"

Half hypnotized, Amber opened his mouth, but no words came. His chin dropped to his breast.

"Thy strength must be known to my peoples; they must see thee put to the proof thy courage, that they may know thee to be the man for their. . . Ye are ready?"

He was unable to move a finger. "Stretch out thine arms!"

He shuddered and tried to obey. The voice rang imperative.

"Stretch forth thine arms for the testing!"

Somewhat mechanically, he succeeded in raising his arms and holding them rigid before him. Alarmed by the movement, the cobra turned with a hiss, waving his poisonous head. But the Virginian made no effort to withdraw his hands. His eyes were wide and staring and his face livid.

A subdued murmur came from the men clustered round the idols, in semi-darkness.

The bell boomed forth like an organ. "O hooded death. . . O death, who art trained to my service! Thou before whom all men stand aghast! Thou who canst look into their hearts and read them as a scroll that is unrolled. . . Look deep into the heart of my chosen! Judge if he be worthy or wanting, judge if he be false or true. . . Judge him, O death!"

Before Amber the great serpent was oscillating like a pendulum, its little tongue playing like forked red lightning, its loathsome red eyes holding his own.

"Look well, O death, and judge him!"

The dance of the hooded death changed in character, grew more frenzied; the white writhing coils melted into one another in dizzying confusion; figure merged into figure like smoke.

The suspense grew intolerable.

"Hast thou judged him, O death?"

Instantly the white cobra reared up to its utmost and remained poised over Amber, barely moving save for the almost imperceptible throbbing of the hood and the incessant darting of the forked tongue.

"If he be loyal, then spare him."

The hood did not move. Amber's flesh crawled with unspeakable dread.

"If he be faithless, then strike!"

For another moment the cobra maintained the tensity. Then slowly, cruel head waving hood shrinking, eyes losing their deathly luster, coil by coil it sank.

A thick murmur ran the round of the walls, swelling into an inarticulate cry, which beat upon Amber's ears like the raving of a far-off surf. From his lips a strangled sob broke, and, every muscle relaxing, he lurched forward.

Alarmed, in a trice the cobra was up again, hood distended to the bursting point, head swinging so swiftly that the eyes could not follow it. In another breath would come the final thrust.

A firearm exploded behind Amber, singeing his cheek with its flame. He fell over sideways, barely escaping the head of the cobra, which, with its hood blown to tatters, writhed in convulsions, its malignant tongue straining forth as if in one last attempt to reach his hand.

A second shot followed the first and then a brisk, confused fusillade. Amber heard a man scream out in mortal agony, and the dull sound of a heavy body falling near him, but, coincident with the second report, the brazier had been overturned and its light extinguished as if sucked up into the air.

CHAPTER XIX.

Rutton's Daughter.

In darkness the blacker for the sudden disappearance of the light, some body stumbled over Amber—stumbled and awoke in good English. The Virginian sat up, crying out as weakly as a child: "Labertouche!" A voice said: "Thank God!" He felt strong hands lift him to his feet. He clung to him who had helped him, swaying like a drunkard, with a swirl in the brain thus roughly awakened from semi-hypnosis.

"Here," said Labertouche's voice, "take my hand and follow. We're in for it now!"

He caught Amber's hand and dragged him, yielding and unquestioning, rapidly through a chaotic rush of unseen bodies.

The firing had electrified the tense, strung audience. With a pandemonium of shrieks, oaths, shouts, orders unheard and commands unheeded, a concerted rush was made from every quarter to the spot where the doomed man had been kneeling. No man could have said where he stood or whither he ran—save one, perhaps. That one was at Amber's side and had laid his course beforehand and knew that both their lives depended upon his sticking to it without deviation. To him a rush of a hundred feet in a direct line meant salvation, the least deviation from it, death.

He was now recovering rapidly and able to appreciate that they stood a good chance of winning away; for the natives were all converging toward the center of the cavern, and apparently none heeded them. Nevertheless Labertouche, releasing him, put a revolver in his hand.

"Don't hesitate to shoot if anyone comes this way!" he said. "I've got to get this door open and—"

He broke off with an ejaculation of gratitude; for while he had been speaking his fingers busily groping in the convolutions of the sculptured pedestal had encountered what he sought, and now he pulled out an iron bar two feet or so in length and as thick as a woman's wrist. Inserting this in the cobra's mouth, he pushed it forward with a strong, steady pressure.

"Your pardon, madam," he said, gravely.

Naraini retreated, shaking with fury, and Amber employed the respite to recognize Sophia Farrell in the woman on the charpoy. She was still seated, prevented from rising by bonds about her wrists and ankles, and though unnaturally pale, her anguish of fear and despair had set its marks upon her face without one whit detracting from the appeal of her beauty. He went to her immediately, and as their eyes met, hers flamed with joy, relief and—he dared believe—a stronger emotion. "You—you're not hurt, Mr. Amber?"

"Not at all. The bullet went out through my sleeve. And you?" He dropped on his knees, with his pocket-knife severing the ends of rope that bound her.

"I'm all right," she took his hands, helping herself to rise. "Thank you," she said, her eyes shining, a flush of color suffusing her face with glory.

"Did you cut those ropes, Amber?" Labertouche interposed curtly.

"Yes, Why?"

The Englishman explained without turning from his somber and morose regard to Naraini. "Too bad—we'll have to tie this woman up, somehow. She's a complication I hadn't foreseen."

"Here, you'd better leave me to attend to her—you and Miss Farrell, go on down the gallery—to the left, I'll catch up with you."

The pistol which he still held lent to his demand a sinister significance of which he was, perhaps, thoughtless. But Sophia Farrell heard, saw and surmised.

"No!" she cried, going swiftly to the secret agent. "No!" She put a hand upon his arm, but he shook it off.

"Did you hear me, Amber?" said Labertouche, still watching the queen.

"What do you mean to do?" insisted Sophia. "You can't—you mustn't!"

"This is no time for half-measures. Miss Farrell," Labertouche told her along.

It was some time later that Labertouche extinguished his lamp and threw a low word of warning over his shoulder. Synchronously Amber discerned, far ahead, a faint glow of yellow light. As they bore down upon it with unmoderated speed he could see that it emanated from a rough-hewn doorway, opening off the passage.

Labertouche pushed Amber on ahead. Stooping, the Virginian entered a small, rude chamber hollowed out of the rock of Katapur. A crude lamp in a bracket furnished all its illumination, flitting it with a rook of hot oil. Amber was vaguely aware of the figures of two women—one standing in a corner, the other seated dejectedly upon a charpoy, her head against the wall. As he lifted his head after passing under the low lintel, the woman in the corner flared at him point-blank.

The Virginian saw the jet of flame spurt from her hand and felt the bullet's impact upon the wall behind his head. He flung himself upon her instantly. There was a moment of furious struggle, while the coil echoed with the reverberations of the shot and the screaming of the woman on the charpoy. The pistol exploded again as he grappled with the would-be murderer; the bullet, passing up his sleeve, creased his left arm as with a white-hot iron, and tore out through the cloth on his shoulder. He twisted brutally the wrist that held the weapon, and the woman dropped it with a cry of pain.

"You would!" he cried, and threw her from him, putting a foot upon the pistol.

She reeled back against the wall and crouched there, trembling, her cheeks on fire, her eyes aflame with rage. "You dog!" she shrieked in Hindustani, and spat at him like a maddened cat. Then he recognized her.

"Naraini!" He stepped back in his surprise, his right hand seeking instinctively the wrist of his left, which was numb with pain.

His change of position left the pistol unguarded, and the woman swooped down upon it like a bird of prey; and before she could get her fingers on its grip, Labertouche stepped between them, fended her off, and quietly possessed himself of the weapon.

"Your pardon, madam," he said, gravely.

Naraini retreated, shaking with fury, and Amber employed the respite to recognize Sophia Farrell in the woman on the charpoy. She was still seated, prevented from rising by bonds about her wrists and ankles, and though unnaturally pale, her anguish of fear and despair had set its marks upon her face without one whit detracting from the appeal of her beauty. He twisted brutally the wrist that held the weapon, and the woman dropped it with a cry of pain.

"You would!" he cried, and threw her from him, putting a foot upon the pistol.

She reeled back against the wall and crouched there, trembling, her cheeks on fire, her eyes aflame with rage. "You dog!" she shrieked in Hindustani, and spat at him like a maddened cat. Then he recognized her.

"Naraini!" He stepped back in his surprise, his right hand seeking instinctively the wrist of his left, which was numb with pain.

His change of position left the pistol unguarded, and the woman swooped down upon it like a bird of prey; and before she could get her fingers on its grip, Labertouche stepped between them, fended her off, and quietly possessed himself of the weapon.

"Your pardon, madam," he said, gravely.

Naraini retreated, shaking with fury, and Amber employed the respite to recognize Sophia Farrell in the woman on the charpoy. She was still seated, prevented from rising by bonds about her wrists and ankles, and though unnaturally pale, her anguish of fear and despair had set its marks upon her face without one whit detracting from the appeal of her beauty. He went to her immediately, and as their eyes met, hers flamed with joy, relief and—he dared believe—a stronger emotion. "You—you're not hurt, Mr. Amber?"

"Not at all. The bullet went out through my sleeve. And you?" He dropped on his knees, with his pocket-knife severing the ends of rope that bound her.

"I'm all right," she took his hands, helping herself to rise. "Thank you," she said, her eyes shining, a flush of color suffusing her face with glory.

"Did you cut those ropes, Amber?" Labertouche interposed curtly.

"Yes, Why?"

The Englishman explained without turning from his somber and morose regard to Naraini. "Too bad—we'll have to tie this woman up, somehow. She's a complication I hadn't foreseen."

"Here, you'd better leave me to attend to her—you and Miss Farrell, go on down the gallery—to the left, I'll catch up with you."

The pistol which he still held lent to his demand a sinister significance of which he was, perhaps, thoughtless. But Sophia Farrell heard, saw and surmised.

"No!" she cried, going swiftly to the secret agent. "No!" She put a hand upon his arm, but he shook it off.

"Did you hear me, Amber?" said Labertouche, still watching the queen.

"What do you mean to do?" insisted Sophia. "You can't—you mustn't!"

"This is no time for half-measures. Miss Farrell," Labertouche told her along.

It was some time later that Labertouche extinguished his lamp and threw a low word of warning over his shoulder. Synchronously Amber discerned, far ahead, a faint glow of yellow light. As they bore down upon it with unmoderated speed he could see that it emanated from a rough-hewn doorway, opening off the passage.

Labertouche pushed Amber on ahead. Stooping, the Virginian entered a small, rude chamber hollowed out of the rock of Katapur. A crude lamp in a bracket furnished all its illumination, flitting it with a rook of hot oil. Amber was vaguely aware of the figures of two women—one standing in a corner, the other seated dejectedly upon a charpoy, her head against the wall. As he lifted his head after passing under the low lintel, the woman in the corner flared at him point-blank.

The Virginian saw the jet of flame spurt from her hand and felt the bullet's impact upon the wall behind his head. He flung himself upon her instantly. There was a moment of furious struggle, while the coil echoed with the reverberations of the shot and the screaming of the woman on the charpoy. The pistol exploded again as he grappled with the would-be murderer; the bullet, passing up his sleeve, creased his left arm as with a white-hot iron, and tore out through the cloth on his shoulder. He twisted brutally the wrist that held the weapon, and the woman dropped it with a cry of pain.

"You would!" he cried, and threw her from him, putting a foot upon the pistol.

She reeled back against the wall and crouched there, trembling, her cheeks on fire, her eyes aflame with rage. "You dog!" she shrieked in Hindustani, and spat at him like a maddened cat. Then he recognized her.

"Did you hear me, Amber?" said Labertouche, still watching the queen.

"What do you mean to do?" insisted Sophia. "You can't—you mustn't!"

brusquely: "Our lives hang in the balance—Mr. Amber's, yours, mine, please go."

"You promise not to harm her?" "Amber!" cried the Englishman, impatiently. "Will you—"

"Please, Miss Farrell!" begged Amber, trying to take the girl's hand and draw her away.

"I won't!" she declared. "I'll not move a step until he promises. You don't understand. No matter what the danger she's—"

"She's a fiend incarnate," Labertouche broke in. "Amber, get that girl—"

"She's my sister!" cried Sophia. "Now will you understand?"

"What?" The two men exclaimed as one.

"She's my sister," the girl repeated, holding up her head defiantly, her cheeks burning—"my sister by adoption. We were brought up together. She was the daughter of an old friend of my father's—an Indian prince. A few years ago she ran away—"

"Thank God!" said Amber from the bottom of his soul; and, "Ah, you would!" cried Labertouche tensely, as Naraini seized the opportunity, when his attention was momentarily diverted, to break for freedom.

Amber saw the flash of a steel blade in the woman's hand as she struck at the secret agent, and the latter, stepping back, deflected the blow with a guarding forearm. Then, with the quickness of a snake, Naraini stooped, slipped beneath his arms, and slipped from the cell.

With a smothered oath Labertouche leaped to the doorway, lifting his pistol; but he was no quicker than Sophia, who caught his arm and held him back. "No," she panted; "not even for our lives—not at that price!"

He yielded unexpectedly. "Of course you are perfectly right, Miss Farrell," said he, with a little bow. "I'm sorry that circumstances . . . But come! She'll have this hornet's nest about our ears in a brace of seconds. Hurk to that!"

A long, shrill shriek echoed down the gallery. Labertouche shrugged and turned to the left. "Come along," he said. "Amber, take Miss Farrell's hand and keep close to me." He led the way from the cell at a brisk pace, one, indeed, that taxed Sophia's powers of endurance to maintain . . .

SUNNY MONDAY

There is not an ounce of rosin in Sunny Monday Laundry Soap. Rosin is used in all other laundry soaps—because it is cheaper than the fats and oils used in Sunny Monday. Sunny Monday costs more to manufacture than any other laundry soap of which we know. It is kind to clothes—will not shrink flannels or woolsens, or turn clothes yellow.

Sunny Monday is just as pure as its whiteness indicates; it is the safest and most economical laundry soap you can use.

Freckle-Face

New Remedy That Removes Freckles or Costs Nothing.

Here's a chance for you to try a new remedy for freckles with a guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles, while it does give you a clear complexion, the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of ethine—double strength from the Badger Drug Co., and one ounce of the other ingredients, which are given you in a small box, and you are rid of your freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Happily more than one one hundred for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the Badger Drug Co. for the double strength ethine, as this is the only description and under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

There are a thousand persons in the world who can hurt you to one that can help you.—Billings.

HEALTH GONE
Business men, and women, too, are gradually coming to realize that their most precious property is health. Whatever financial troubles may come, if only health remains there is always another chance.

And if precious in adversity it is equally so in prosperity. The all-important thing is to preserve it by guarding against a breakdown at the first symptoms. Nervousness, failing appetite, bad blood, skin troubles, weakness—all are danger signals. Take Vinol, right away, and restore your strength, enrich your blood and calm your nerves. Rev. Geo. W. Hubbard of Keosau, N. H., says when he was run down and overworked, Vinol did even more good than was claimed for it. Vinol is our delicious cod liver and iron remedy that has done so much good, to our own knowledge, that we guarantee it to please you. Your money back if it does not.

Chronic Diseases Successfully Treated.

The doctor has such wonderful success in the treatment of certain diseases that he feels fully warranted in making the following liberal offer:

He will make a thorough examination and tell you just what can be done; what the treatment will cost and about how long it will take to effect a cure.

Dr. Shallenberger wants every person who suffers from a chronic disease—it makes no difference how bad their case is, or how long they have suffered, or who has treated them and pronounced them incurable, to call and consult him. He will make a thorough examination of their case, tell exactly what can be done, whether they are curable or not, how long it will require and all about it. He treats chronic diseases, such as: Rheumatism, Liver Disease, Catarrh of the Bladder, Kidney Trouble, Disease of the Kidneys, Chronic Catarrh in all its forms, Heart and Nerve Trouble, Diseases of women, specially.

Dr. Shallenberger has a system of treatment which he believes is the best known for chronic diseases. He is able to cure many cases that have resisted other treatments—that are considered incurable. He wants it distinctly understood that he does not undertake any case that he thinks is incurable, and will tell the patient candidly when he has made the examination.

He has a special treatment for general weakness of men, which he would like to explain in person. He will examine every case that calls on him on the above date absolutely free of charge.

Ohio State League Starts.
Newark, O., April 20.—The reorganized Ohio State League starts its season today with each of the eight clubs optimistic over its chances for the pennant. The race starts with Lancaster Springfield, Lima at Hamilton and Portsmouth at Newark. The schedule calls for 11 games, with the finish on Labor day.

Opening Day in Virginia League.
Lynchburg, Va., April 20.—With all signs pointing to a successful season and a closely contested pennant race the Virginia League opens its season today. Danville opens at Richmond.

Petersburg at Norfolk and Roanoke at Lynchburg. The league this year is virtually a new organization as regards the personnel of players and managers. Each team on the circuit has signed many new players and five of the six clubs have new managers at the helm.

Eastern League Opens Its Season.
Providence, R. I., April 20.—The Eastern League opens its championship season today, with Montreal playing at Newark, Toronto at Baltimore, Rochester at Jersey City and Buffalo at Providence. The season will continue until September 24, the schedule calling for 151 games.

Golf Tournament at Lakewood.
Lakewood, N. J., April 20.—With the opening today of the annual spring golf tournament of the Lakewood Country club the competitive golf season of the metropolitan district was fairly initiated. The tournament will last three days and the feature event is the team match open to teams of four members representing clubs in the United States Golf Association.

Congress on Child Welfare.
Washington, D. C., April 20.—Arrangements are about completed for the second International Congress on Child Welfare, which is to assemble here next week under the auspices of the National Congress of Mothers. The sessions will last an entire week. The addresses and discussions will treat of the relations and duties of home, school, church and state to child welfare. Each phase of the general subjects will be discussed by eminent specialists. Prominent persons from all parts of the United States and Canada and from several of the countries of Europe have accepted invitations to take part in the congress.

You Can Live In Your Own Home In Janesville

The prosperous condition of Janesville evidenced by the fact that so many people own their own homes, the proportion of rented houses is much less than is usual in cities of its size, all of which goes to show that this is the best kind of a place to live in and to get on a substantial footing. Another thing is that people who own their own homes are more interested in local improvements than would otherwise be the case and the result is that Janesville has the most attractive of residence sections. Locate where you will in the Bower City and you will be contented and happy as are all the good people who call Janesville home. Everyone hopes to some day own an up-to-date city home. Haven't you a friend who is contemplating leaving the farm and is looking for a city home? Haven't you a friend who is intending to make a change? Cut this talk out and mail it to him.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

SOME weeks ago I included among other suggestions of unusual occupations for women, a letter received from a woman who had been very successful in raising hens.

This woman said that she had fifty-five hens, averaging four dozen eggs a day, that her feed and supplies averaged $3.80 a month, and that she sold the eggs at 40 cents a dozen the year around to a regular customer. This letter called forth the following protest, presenting the other side of the picture, which I think fairness bids me publish:

"My Dear Miss Cameron:—Your talk on hens and eggs in yesterday's paper is perfectly absurd, wherever you got it from. The poultry business is an all-year-round business, and there probably are not fifty-five hens in the country who will average 48 eggs per day. If one had a flock that would do that the eggs would sell at a great big price for setting purposes. Go to a practical poultry man and see if his books will show much over an average of 150 eggs per hen a year.

"Then the feed expense is very off. It figures up at 83 cents per year a hen. No one can feed for that. Furthermore you allow nothing for houses, nothing for labor or usual losses—and where, oh, where can you find a market that will pay 40 cents a dozen the year round? Please tell me, for I grow eggs for a living and really would like such a market myself.

"I am afraid your article will influence someone ignorant of the business to start to get rich on a few hens, with dark fairs for a result. For the right kind of woman poultry keeping is a congenial and fairly profitable business. Take one season with another, with business ability and economy all along the line one should clear from a dollar to a dollar and a quarter per year on a hen. Of course, experts growing fancy stock can do more, but the average woman seeking a livelihood is not a poultry expert, and would have to depend on selling a good quantity of eggs for family use. Such a woman could manage probably five hundred hens and raise some chickens to sell."

Another good idea for the woman who wants some unusual method of earning money is suggested by a reader:

"A woman who lives near a schoolhouse would no doubt find a number of teachers who crave a hot lunch at noon, but who have no time to seek it. If a hot, home-made, tray lunch were brought to those teachers' own classrooms at a reasonable figure, say 25 cents, they would doubtless be glad to patronize the person who could supply them."

A woman whom I know has worked up quite a successful business as a renovator.

That term covers a good many kinds of work. It includes putting in fresh yokes to dressing, remodelling sleeves and cuffs and minor details into style, doing fine gleaning, taking spots out of delicate fabrics, curling feathers, cleaning white gloves and many other similar operations too numerous to mention.

This woman also makes fitted underwear for people who like home-made underclothing, and a few plain shirtwaists, but the most of her time is taken up with the renovating.

She happens to know a good many working girls who are too busy or incapable of doing their own odd jobs and she finds them both good customers and good advertisers.

In the case of the feathers and the gloves she charges prices slightly under professional rates, and having a knack about such things, removes and replaces the feathers.

Altogether, by putting herself into whatever niche needs filling she has made a fairly comfortable living. The trade, of course, has developed very gradually, but she thinks that any woman suitably located and with a knack at such things might develop a similar business if she did not have to depend upon her earnings at first.

Don't forget to send in that suggestion of some unusual occupation for women. We want it. Don't say "Some day," but take your pen in hand and "Do it now."

MOTHER'S CORNER

By JULIA CHANDLER.

"All that I am, or ever hope to be, I owe to my Mother."
—Abraham Lincoln.

THE HOUR.

NOW they are climbing the stairs together. Little Boy and The Mother-of-the-Great-Heart. The hand that holds the candle is a wonderful hand, for does it not carry the light that drives the terrible shadows from the corners? There is the candle hand's sister, a hand that is very strong in guiding the little feet that drag very slowly now. "Is the Sand-man coming?" whispers Little Boy, peering curiously over his shoulder. But of course you know that no child sees the Sand-man because he throws dust into their eyes while he is yet a far way off.

"Very soon," answers The Mother-of-the-Great-Heart as she closes the door on the day that is done.

There have been times—even today there have been times—when the child has been naughty, selfish or rude, perchance. There have been times when it was even necessary to pull the big chair into the far corner of the room and turn it to the wall. Little Boy knows what it means to sit through a compulsory silence while the clock ticks one's very soul with the slowness of his ticking. But the things of the day that is done have no place in this hour that is just before the coming of the Sand-man.

The Mother-of-the-Great-Heart will not forget—even when Little Boy is a man will she forget—the shrieks of gloom with which he greets the ten little fairies when the shoes and stockings are off, leaving them bare and aching.

The ten little toes are not always toes, neither are they always fairies, but Little Boy is very wise. He has strange journeys with stranger folk than his ten little toes deep in the stillness of the night. The Mother-of-the-Great-Heart knows just how closely linked are the tales of the fairies and The Hour which is Little Boy's own.

She puts the work-a-day world out of the room and has a care that it does not enter. For this hour before the coming of the Sand-man is the hour of all the day that Little Boy will carry with him into dreams, for he will not forget the lessons that are taught in the tales that are told—not even when the Sand-man has been again and again—not even when he is no longer Little Boy will he forget.

Now the toes are tucked away; the Sand-man draws very near, and The Mother-of-the-Great-Heart tells again the tale of The Mother.

What a wonderful tale is the face of The Mother-of-the-Great-Heart! There is a radiance illuminating it which holds Little Boy rapt. It is the light that illumined the face of That Other Woman who bent above the manger in the long ago—the light of motherhood.

If you tell Little Boy that the light is from the Great Heart he will not care. It is enough for him that it is always there; that it makes the dear face that bends toward his own very soft and very beautiful when she tells him this tale of the young Jesus at the closing of The Hour.

Editor's Note: We desire these tales by Mrs. Chandler to be practical and helpful at all times. To this end we wish our readers to be free to write suggestions and co-operate with her as frequently as possible. Address care of this paper.

KEEP YOURSELF IN HAND.

Don't allow your nerves to run away with you. Keep yourself well in hand. If you would have things run along smoothly do not give yourself over to worrying about little things.

A woman's nerves are as intractable as horses that have once been allowed to runaway. Having found that they can get out of control they take every advantage to attempt to get away. The result is disastrous. You can't very well have runaways unless you have a desire of one kind or another. Nervous that form the habit of running away leave plenty of wreckage to testify to it.

The most envied of women is she who has poise, which is but an outward evidence of self-control and healthy nerves. A woman of this type may not know exactly just how she accomplished the task of never getting hurried or appearing worked up. All she knows is that she has acquired it.

The woman who allows her nerves to run away with her is to be pitied and yet who is to be envied, too. It is usually over little things that we get excited. It is the things of minor importance that aggravate us. It is the inconsequential things that worry us. A woman who could watch her home burn down without becoming excited will go to pieces over a broken dish. A woman who wouldn't lose her head in a train wreck will go into hysterics if the blinds blow shut.

There are women who keep the household in a constant uproar because of their attacks of "nerves." The children are never able to live calm, normal lives and her husband is put at his wits' end to devise some means of getting the trouble so essential to the success of his work. Such a woman leaves a trail of disorder in her wake and more often than not makes her family and associates feel as if they would like to get a thousand miles away from her.

Broken down nerves are unquestionably terrible things. Therefore, women should guard against inviting such a disaster by keeping themselves well in hand and by keeping their nerves subordinate to their will. The average woman who worries and frets makes mountains out of molehills. She crosses her bridges before she comes to them. She surrenders to the invader long before he demands it.

If she would only from the very first decide that come what would she would neither worry or fret but use her strength in devising means of making life as healthy, comfortable and happy as possible for others she wouldn't be tempted to fly off at a tangent at every little thing. Pure selfishness is at the bottom of most of the evils from which we suffer and it is no exception in the case of the woman who surrenders to her nerves. Such a woman is never in any condition to go anywhere or to enjoy anything. And she pays a high price for her folly.

ROUTING THE BRITISH.

April 20.—One of the results of Paul Rogers' ride and its disastrous rout of the British was that the defeated army began the siege of Boston April 20, 1775. Trouble had been brewing in "Boston" since the days of the "Tea Party" (1773), when a party of Bostonians disguised as Mohawk Indians boarded three English ships lying in the harbor and threw their cargo of stamp-dutied tea into the water. Parliament retaliated by passing the Boston Port Bill, which closed the port to all shipping, and paralyzed one of the chief industries. The siege lasted all the night of March 4, 1776, when Washington made his memorable seizure of Bunker's Heights—now South Boston—and began picking off the red coats like a man in a tree shooting rabbits. Gen. Howe and his vanguard troops were kept so busy doing up bullets that they could not keep the crease in their trousers. This was an intolerable condition, so Howe packed up his things and gathered the Tories who were still "loyal," the whole "push" Boston for Halifax on March 17, and Sullivan was left to the full enjoyment of the festive baked bean.

A CAUSE OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

People past middle life of sedentary habit, should remember that less albumen is required in the diet than in earlier years. Ignorance of this, coupled with lack of exercise, is a prime factor in bringing on Bright's disease.

Swimmin'

By Byron Williams

Where the nymphs held their revels in the golden light of noon. Just beyond the rustling valley laden with the rippling corn. Down the path where catbirds whistle and the rabbit scurries by. Is the calm and peaceful river, gliding "neath a turquoise sky?" And beyond the clump of willows where the darling shiners gleam, Minnie bathing suits and bladders, we are "swimmin'" in the stream!

"There is Billy Lane and 'Chinky,' Stubbs, 'Patty,' 'Dad' and 'Mie.' All the fellows who could sneak it, diving off a stump, oh, go! Picking bottom, splashing, ducking, tying shirt-tails good and tight. Having in the cooling river 'all the while' blows at night! Then a rash for shirts and trousers—that is all we want those days! When we cut across the meadow by the river's cooling ways!

Ah! I reach my home with trembling, fearful of paternal eyes! Will I run the gambrel safely with a few 'well known' friends? Oh, my hair is driving slowly and my shirt is wrong-side out—Patty takes one look and summons me to bring a sapling, stout! And a roasting bibb and bibb is a thing I barely meet—In the clump that covers my bacon is when my gloves go that time!

Where the nymphs are sitting gayly in the golden light of noon. Far beyond the stilling city, in the vale of rustling corn. I am shaking off my raiment for an ecstasy divine! Just beyond the clump of willows by the laughing bay wharf, I am poised to turn a "topper" that will tell me to my soul—in the land of way off yonder, in the old time swimmin' hole!

Displacement.

Oh, give in me the perfume of the grape And not the wine it yields; The grace to love, not covetous nor grasp; The glory of the hills! I pray for the dislating power of mind That knows the truth from art, Transmuting the jeweled drop of dew From diamonds in the mart!

I long to know the genuine, the real—The heart beneath the guise. The purest heart from the tangled mass, "The noble from the thrush." Perception of the mind to separate The good from all the worst, With wit to weave the truth itself into An ecstasy of song!

—Byron Williams.

The Kitchen Cabinet

U MAKE thy garden as fair as thou canst. Thou wilt not never alone; Perchance he, whom plot is next to thine, May see it and mend his own."

Mushrooms. As the season for our best mushrooms is now why not watch for them. It is a great pity that thousands of pounds of this great delicacy goes to waste because people are either too indifferent to their value, or afraid of getting a poisonous variety.

In no line is the old proverb more in force, "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," than in the study of mushrooms.

There are always books and people, if we look for them to meet all our needs, so get a good book on mushrooms, study a few of the common kinds and learn to distinguish them as easily (for they are as individual) as a robin and a blackbird. There is one quite common kind which melts away into a bunch of ink blackness, that are especially fine if picked when fresh. They are well named the "inky caps," for when decaying they become fluid and black.

Mushrooms are a most interesting study, and the more one learns of the fungi the more one enjoys the study. There are so many edible varieties that one may get to recognize a few with very little study, then confine themselves to those, so that there is no danger of getting a poisonous variety.

When carefully picked and cleaned, mushrooms do not need washing. The cap is peeled from edge to the center, stems removed and they are ready to cook.

In the cooking of mushrooms, whether used in a sauce or any combination, they are first sautéed in butter for five minutes, which brings out the flavor, then they may be added to a brown sauce for beefsteak or served in soup.

To broil mushrooms remove the stems, peel the caps, lay on a broiler and broil on the top then add a little butter to the hollow part of the cap and finish on that side.

A cake that rises in the middle and bursts open may have too much flour in it, or the oven too hot at the broiling.

Nellie Maxwell.

Russian Patties.

One pint of oysters; parboil, strain and reserve liquor; there should be about one cupful. Make a sauce of three tablespoonfuls of butter, four and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour, one-half cupful of chicken stock, the half cupful of oyster liquor and one-half cupful of cream, all the yolks of two eggs, one tablespoonful of grated horseradish, two tablespoonfuls of capers, three-quarters of a tablespoonful of lemon juice and from one-half to one level teaspoonful of salt, according to saltiness of oysters. Stir in one tablespoonful each of white pepper and paprika, then add the drained oysters. As soon as the oysters plump and their edges curl fill into patty shells and serve very hot.

Spiced Beef.

A ten-pound roast beef. Rub into this half a teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of black pepper, two table-spoons each of ground allspice and cloves. Then put the beef into a vessel that will fit it. Pour two quarts of vinegar on it, and let it remain in the vinegar one week, turning it every day. Cover tight to keep the flavor in the meat. Then take it out and tie up tight in a clean cloth. Put it to cook with all the juice, adding one quart of water and let it boil two hours and a quarter. Let it be cold when taken out of the cloth. Slice thin. It is excellent for luncheons and parties.

Raised Doughnuts.

One cup warm milk, one cup sugar, two cups melted lard, one cup yeast, a level teaspoon salt, half a nutmeg, two eggs and enough flour to make a sponge; let rise over night; add more flour, mold and cut with small jelly glass, the dough being rolled about half an inch thick; put in greased pan and set near stove to rise; when very light put in large kettle of hot lard and cook from seven to eight minutes; take from kettle and put on brown paper to drain and drop two or three drops of lemon on each.

Luncheon Sandwiches.

Butter slightly slices of white bread, chop fine four stalks of celery and the same quantity of cold meat. Make a mayonnaise dressing, stir it into meat and celery, spread on the bread, put a plain slice of bread and butter on top.

To Women Readers

One woman writes to the Gazette that she does not fully understand what is meant by utilization of remnants from one meal to another. Perhaps others have the same trouble. Just a word of explanation may be advisable at this time.

Take for instance a boiled dinner. There are corn beef, boiled potatoes, beans and so forth left over. The combination of corn beef and potatoes makes delicious hash either for supper, breakfast or even for dinner with other side dishes. The cabbage can be utilized by being fried and served toasting hot and the beans can be put away in a jar to cool and served at other meals later.

This boiled dinner idea was merely used as an illustration. There are many other left overs from one meal to another that can be made into dainty and palatable dishes. Just try them and see how they work out and then put your ideas into your menus. You do not need to wait for these recipes to be printed; send them in to the Feature Editor and ask that they be published so they can be used.

Calls still continue for the Scrap Books showing that the interest in the present contest does not flag. If all who have taken these little handy kitchen books enter it will mean that one of the grandest sets of menus for a week will be secured that can be found anywhere.

The four prizes are as follows: First prize—Caloric Pileless Cooker. Second prize—$5.00 in gold. Third prize—$3.00.

Fourth prize—$2.00. Any question relative to the contest should be addressed "Feature Editor, Gazette."

THAT AMUSING ANECDOTE

I've come across this little tale. Alleged to bring with funniness. An anecdote that cannot fail. To steep your heart in sunlight: King Edward, he was strolling out. With dukes and courtiers tracking him. When some one met him with a shout. Up to the shoulder reaching him. And then the king said, wilyly: "You're wrong!" and laughed right merrily. And every baronet and duke. Was joyful over the stranger's duke. For when the unknown person spoke. King Edward recognised the joke.

Again I find it in the prints: This time the gallant Theodore. Whose teeth show forth in cheery glints. Whose strenuousness we adore. Was in the park executive. When met by William Jones, we'll say. "For when the unknown person spoke. King Edward recognised the joke."

When the president laughed merrily. And cried: "A good joke, verily!" And the convulsed observers laughed. Until you might have thought them daffy. For when the perfect stranger spoke. The president could see the joke.

O, I have seen it off and on: Great men, and the nobility. Have been addressed as "DIL" or "John." Disturbing their tranquillity. And they and all about them, too. "Tis told, have laughed side-splittingly. Is it a joke? Pray tell me, do! Have I misread it unwittingly? I read it wily, wilyly. And still cannot laugh merrily. My sides and shoulders cannot shake. Because of some one's child mistake. (Revelation I involve. I've never, never seen the joke! WILHELM D. NESBIT.

The Suffragette. Mother, may I go out to vote? Yes, if you're set upon it; Put on your most becoming coat. And forty-dollar bonnet. Mother, who are the candidates? The tickets ought to show them; Let's vote for them and thank our fate. We do not need to know them!

The little daughter of a Philadelphia minister had invited a friend of the same age to take supper at the house. After they were all at the table the minister said a short prayer, which ceremony his little one whispered to her friend was known as "saying grace."

"That's not the way my pa says grace," ventured the child to the minister, when he had concluded.

"Isn't it?" asked he, smiling. "How does your pa say grace?"

"Oh, he comes into the dining room, sits down, bounces his hat on the table and yells:

"Good heavens, what a supper!"

SINGER

Why will you send to the mail order house for a machine just because it is low in price, when it is really dear at any price which you may pay for it.

Every day I have calls for supplies for mail order machines which cannot be furnished. Several calls a day come in from people wanting me to repair machines bought of mail order houses.

Before spending your money for inferior machines, give me a call and look over my machines. They stand up under the strain of heavy work. They run right, and stay right, thus saving the expense of buying repairs, and the inconvenience resulting from having a machine which is not satisfactory. My machines are absolutely reliable.

DON'T BUY A MONUMENT FROM A "CARPETBAGGER"

It's as bad as buying goods from a Mail Order House. You'll get the worst end of it. The "Carpet-Bagger" is a man who goes about from house to house with a few designs under his arm and a line story of what a big bargain he will give you in a monument. He'll probably want a deposit with the order and as he has no established business you may never see him again. There are instances where deals of this character have been put through in Rock county and they forcibly show that it isn't a good plan to entrust your order to a "door-bell ringer."

It is our aim to give the best satisfaction to our patrons from beginning to finish. Everything is guaranteed to be absolutely right. As I we're here back of the guarantee.

PUBLICITY NEEDED IN EXPOSING MAIL ORDER METHODS

WHATEVER WORKS TO THE DETRIMENT OF MERCHANTS ACTS AS A DETRIMENT TO THE CITY

Conditions are becoming more acute every year in retail merchandising. The evils which assail the local merchants, also work to the detriment of the whole public. The time has come to circulate truth and advance arguments for fairness in the matter of merchandising in all lines and this can be done in no better way than by giving publicity to the evils as they are known to exist.

In the sale of most goods there must be an intelligent distributor on the grounds to handle the goods and handle them right. This is the retail merchant, who is being hampered and threatened by the methods of the Retail Catalogue Mail Order House. Every man or business has a right to sell goods as it pleases, but when its methods are unscrupulous, when misrepresentations are made, when misleading and untruthful statements are made against the local merchants, who are the stamina and back bone of every town or city, then it's time to make every effort to set matters right.

The theme of the Mail Order Catalogue House is to decry the honesty of the local merchant in all lines. This claim is actually made in catalogues, or insinuated, without a knowledge of who the local merchant is, what his policies in business are, or what manner of man he is. This, their first claim, and usually their strongest claim stands on no foundation of truth whatever.

To prove their statements they offer prices on merchandise in all lines, seemingly lower than goods of like character can be bought for from the local merchant. The goods are described, illustrated, and praised to the skies, and many times the wording while within the limits of the law, is really misleading. Articles are photographed to look bigger and better than they are. Goods are made up in the cheapest possible manner, representing similar goods found in retail stores, but of much better grades.

To illustrate this, facts have come to light where a certain manufacturer of stoves was putting on the market a really good article. The Mail Order house ordered from the manufacturer a quantity, made exactly like the original stove, except that the grade of iron is to be cheaper, the castings are to be made lighter, the fire box to be made smaller, the genuine nickel to be replaced with imitation nickel, the whole thing cheapened until in reality it is not worth more than one-half the cost of the original. Yet this stove looks exactly like the better quality, is illustrated in the same manner, described in the same manner, and as the buyer buys a stove but seldom he does not recognize the difference until it is used for a month or two, and then it is too late to ask for money back. Similar instances are known in other lines. In fact, this is one of the fundamentals of many of the Mail Order Catalogue houses.

When buying from Mail Order houses, the buyer pays the freight, pays for money order, for postage, etc., which often amounts to the difference in price between shoddy mail order merchandise, and reliable merchandise purchased at local stores. Paying the freight is at many times a bigger item than is imagined. One man in Rock County paid $4.50 for freight on a dresser he bought from a Chicago concern, supposing it was to be shipped from Chicago, but the dresser was shipped from the factory in the South, where it was made of cheap southern lumber, and was worth less than the freight alone, to say nothing of the original cost, which of course was sent in with the order.

While Mail Order Houses are making millions of dollars each year from exorbitant profits on their goods, they prate of selling at manufacturers cost, below cost, and other alluring phrases.

While every man has a perfect right to buy where and what he pleases, yet he should not forget his obligation to the community. He should remember that in the town or city the local merchant is a big factor in upbuilding, that the schools, the churches, the courts, the libraries, owe much to the local business men's help, and that every dollar he sends to Mail Order Houses is that much working capital taken out of the community. In reality you cannot buy cheaper from Catalogs than you can from local merchants. If price is the one thing you look at in buying, go to the local merchant and ask for the cheapest he has on hand. You'll find many things cheaper, or even, and also better than are catalogued. Look around about town anyway before you buy. Merchants all invite you to see their goods, and they do not importune you to buy.

YOU cannot beat the mail order house at their own game, especially goods, you take all the chances, they take the profits. Mail orbitant profits. One farmer bought a stove of a mail order house stovepipe and saw the same stove for sale at several dollars cheaper freight all the way from Kentucky, about $5.00. He could have saved hundreds have been fooled. Before you send your money out of the looked, if you feel that you can buy cheaper elsewhere, it's up to you

HALL & HUEBEL

J. M. BOSTWICK & SONS.

For the past 60 years the name of "Bostwick" has been associated with the Dry Goods Business of Janesville.

For 30 years the present management has been actively identified with the Big Store.

The business was grounded on a solid foundation, and the present status of the business is evidence that it has been conducted along right lines.

Janesville could not alone support such a store, but as Rock County has a population of about 55,000 people, and trade comes to The Big Store from adjacent counties, it means really a large city population to draw from. This store stands out alone as carrying the largest and most complete stock for a radius of so many miles that it has become the natural trading place for people residing distances of 100 miles and more from Janesville.

Large assortments in all departments have made The Big Store Famous. Our lines consist of DRY GOODS AND ALL THE THINGS USUALLY COVERED BY THAT TERM, CURTAINS, FLOOR COVERINGS AND WEARING APPAREL.

The store occupies a space equal to 15 stores 100 ft. long. Great improvements have been made during the past two years. The Carpet section is one of the show places of Janesville. It is a beautiful, large, airy room that would do credit to a city of the largest size. It is reached by an electric elevator, making it easily accessible.

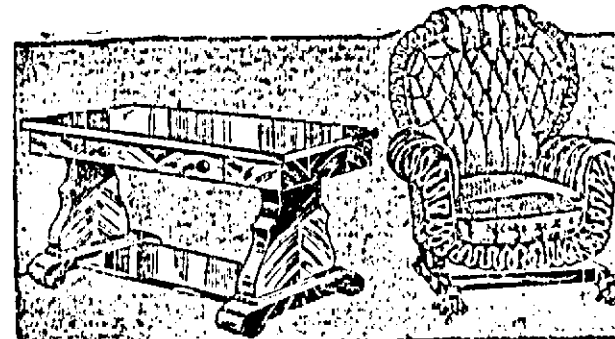

The wearing apparel section has been completely equipped with new fixtures and it is a most complete apartment, occupying the entire north store.

The curtain section, on the second floor is one of The Big Store's strongest features.

The money saving possibilities are very great and one must always take into consideration when comparing prices that the qualities carried by The Big Store are far above the average.

Other improvements are being made at the present time which will make The Big Store even a more important trading center than it is now.

Do not allow the flattering offers of the Mail Order House to blind you to the good things which your home merchant has to offer you.

There is no annoyance or delay in getting goods from my store, and I carry nothing but standard goods, at right prices.

Quality considered, I will meet any price which the Mail Order House makes you, and give you the privilege of selecting your goods before you spend your money. This the Mail Order House will not do.

You are obliged to send your money in advance, then wait their shipment, and do your own delivering from the depot which is an added expense.

Before sending your order out of town come in and talk it over and I will show you where I can save you money by trading with me. Don't forget the number,

Uncomplimentary Criticism.
At a recent sale of books and curios the auctioneer said: "This book, gentlemen, is especially valuable, as it contains a marginal note in the handwriting of John Dryden. Five pounds offered. Going—going—gone. It is yours, sir." The autograph marginal note by the renowned scholar was as follows: "This book is not worth the paper it is printed on."

Cause of Gray Hair.
Metchnikoff, the famous bacteriologist, says the cause of grayness is the penetration into the hair of wandering cells, resembling the white blood corpuscles. These cells, assisted by other cells, the aggregation of which makes the hair, seize upon the granules of pigment and destroy them.

Plain Living.
How totally different is the effect of a plain, rational and nutritious diet upon the man who eats to live. His appetite requires no pampering, and yet he enjoys his food, and, at the same time, what the gourmand is deprived of, he is thoroughly alive to all the pleasures of life and able for its duties.—Health Record.

When the Lamp Misbehaves.
If a lamp should ever be overturned, do not attempt to put out the flame with water, for it will simply spread it. Instead, throw down flour, sand, garden earth or salt, any of which will have the desired effect.

We All Know Them.
"I hate," said Uncle Eben, "to see a kind of a man that thinks he can't get on in the world without compelling somebody else to get off."

BOTH PHONES.

EVERY MAN SHOULD RECOGNIZE HIMSELF AS A FACTOR IN HIS HOME TOWN AND BECOME A SOLDIER OF THE COMMON GOOD. WHY NOT? WE ARE MUTUALLY DEPENDENT, EVERY ONE OF US, FROM THE SUNRISE TO THE SUNSET OF LIFE, FOR NO MAN LIVES TO OR FOR HIMSELF ALONE. THE UTTERLY SELFISH MAN IS A MISFIT IN THE SCHEME OF HUMAN EXISTENCE, IS A LIBEL UPON A BENEFICENT PROVIDENCE.

These golden words of truth are quoted from a booklet bearing a town that believes in itself and is going forward with rapid strides because its people work together for the common good. Its population increased nearly 100 per cent during the past ten years, while another town similarly situated, only twenty-five miles away, has increased only about 1 per cent in thirty years. Why the difference? The other town is cut up into cliques and factions. Some sets won't trade or neighbor with other sets. The result is that thousands of dollars every month are sent out of that town for mail order purchases, whereas in the town first mentioned, where the people stick together, it has been estimated that the home merchants get about 98 per cent of the trade.

"We are mutually dependent, every one of us," remember that, and "become a soldier of the common good." Patronize home industries. Trade at home. Don't be selfish and a libel.

"Patronize Home Industries"

Do You Know What Is Manufactured In Your Own Community?

- Who cans tomatoes and other vegetables for the trade?
- Who makes shoes or harness or other leather goods?
- Who manufactures overalls, night shirts or underwear?
- Who makes suits of clothing, overcoats or dress skirts?
- Who makes flour, meal, breakfast foods or other edibles for sale?
- Who prints pamphlets, stationery, cards and other jobwork?

If you want to help boom your town find out about these things and "PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRIES" instead of buying these products from Mail Order concerns.

For Honest Furniture

house. It's exactly the opposite in many ways. Mail order furniture is more than all else should not be made cheap, and that is furniture. In furniture we sell, is more economical in the end than shoddy furniture. You'll add, than to buy several cheap articles that will last but a year or so. Cheap often costs more.
